

ORDER OF BATTLE HOHENLINDEN 1800

CONTINGENT	FRENCH	POINTS	122	TURNS	22	WEATHER	Snow, visibility is reduced to 2 points until the 4th round
1 Unit represents	1 brigade	GENERAL PROVISIONS ON THE BATTLE
1 Infantry soldier	1 battallion	One turn = 15 minutes. The field is snowy; until the 4th turn, visibility is reduced to 2 points. Infantry loses 1 MP in snow and 2 MP in woods; cavalry loses 3 MP in snow and 5 in woods; artillery loses 4 MP in snow and 5 in woods. Artillery must add 1 Objective card and 1 Shot due to snow. There is no penalty if units proceed on light-colored roads; if the road crosses a body of water, it is considered a bridge. On roads, units must move in column; in the event of an attack, they may deploy in line, losing 1 MP for the change in formation. The French columns remain awaiting the enemy, except for Richepanse's, which advances until reaching Maitenbech to attack Kollowrat's corps from behind. Garrison units on the front line, if not behind obstacles, must be defended by fortifications.
